V11N4

April 2013

Welcome to the V11N4 April 2013 issue of the Awareness Watch™ Newsletter. This newsletter is available as a complimentary subscription and will be issued monthly. Each newsletter will feature the following:

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report

Awareness Watch™ Spotters

Awareness Watch™ Book/Paper/Article Review

Subject Tracer™ Information Blogs

I am always open to feedback from readers so please feel free to email with all suggestions, reviews and new resources that you feel would be appropriate for inclusion in an upcoming issue of Awareness Watch™. This is an ongoing work of creativity and you will be observing constant changes, constant updates knowing that “change” is the only thing that will remain constant!!

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report

This month’s featured report covers Statistics Resources and Big Data on the Internet is a comprehensive listing of statistics and big data datasets including resources and sites on the Internet. The below list of sources is taken from my Subject Tracer™ Information Blog titled Statistics Resources and is constantly updated with Subject Tracer™ bots at the following URL:

<http://www.StatisticsResources.info/>

These resources and sources will help you to discover the many pathways available through the Internet to find the latest statistics and big data resources and sites. As this site is constantly updated it would be to your benefit to bookmark and return to the above URL frequently.

LivePerson - A World of Experts

<http://www.liveperson.com/>

LivePerson (Nasdaq: LPSN) puts the world's experts at your fingertips. Founded in 1995, LivePerson helps the Internet deliver on its promise of making our day-to-day lives easier and better by supplying real-time access to the world's experts and their knowledge. For everyday people, LivePerson is an online destination, community and marketplace where individuals can chat live with experts in a broad range of categories. This has been added to Internet Experts Subject Tracer™ Information Blog.

Pearl.com - Wisdom When You Want It

<http://www.pearl.com/>

Pearl.com started in 2003 when Andy Kurtzig and his wife Sara were expecting their first child. Like most new parents, they had a million questions for their doctor – day and night. But the doctor had time to talk to them only at their appointments. So Andy created a site to provide answers from doctors and other professionals at any time. After helping more than 5 million people access professionals, the company rebranded as Pearl.com in 2012 as part of our commitment to go beyond a simple question and answer format. On Pearl.com, customers have one-on-one online conversations with doctors, lawyers, and more than 170 types of professionals, each one verified and specially selected with quality in mind. They look forward to helping millions more people access professionals online. This has been added to Internet Experts Subject Tracer™ Information Blog.

A new way of doing business. How Skype in the workspace can help your business: a) Find - Find the services you need from a global community of experts; b) Promote - Add your services to make new connections, share inspiration and help grow your business; and c) Organize - Helps you get the most from your Skype connections. This has been added to Internet Experts Subject Tracer™ Information Blog.

papirus.net - Project Management Service

<https://papirus.net/>

papirus.net's Project Management Service is designed for small to medium sized organizations. Papirus makes it easy for you to manage projects, organize your tasks, monitor overdue assignments, arrange a formal workflow, and communicate with other project team members. Papirus is a web-based application, with a corresponding app for every popular mobile platform, including: iPhone/iPad, Android, and Windows Phone 7. Papirus is based on the idea of structured communication. Its main aim is to have all of the information about a specific task recorded in one place, while ensuring that the process of assigning responsibility for that task is very transparent. Transparent assignment of responsibility for each task ensures that necessary information is delivered only to the involved members, without distracting other team members with non-relevant communications. By keeping other team members focused on their own responsibilities, the amount of time it takes to complete a task – whether a small assignment or a large project – can be reduced, thus improving overall task management. When a team member logs into Papirus, they see a list of the tasks they are currently responsible for. They can organize their list of tasks using the GTD® (“Getting Things Done®”) method, or whatever other method they prefer. By default, a team member will not see any information about tasks that other team members are responsible for, though they do have the ability to view them, if those tasks are shared with them. This has been added to the tools section of Research Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog. This will be added to Entrepreneurial Resources Subject Tracer™.

ClearSpending - Making Sense of the Federal Checkbook

<http://sunlightfoundation.com/clearspending/>

Keeping Tabs on USASpending.gov. They have taken data from other federal reporting systems and compared it with just the grants data found in USASpending.gov across three categories: Consistency, Completeness and Timeliness. How close are the reported dollar amounts to the yearly estimates? How many of the required fields are filled out in each record? And how long did it take the agency to report the money once it was allocated to a project? View their scorecard to find out. Open Access Scholarly Information Sourcebook (OASIS)

<http://www.openoasis.org/>

OASIS aims to provide an authoritative 'sourcebook' on Open Access, covering the concept, principles, advantages, approaches and means to achieving it. The site highlights developments and initiatives from around the world, with links to diverse additional resources and case studies. As such, it is a community-building as much as a resource-building exercise. Users are encouraged to share and download the resources provided, and to modify and customize them for local use. Open Access is evolving, and they invite the growing world-wide community to take part in this exciting global movement. This has been added to the tools section of Research Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog.

OpeningParliament.org - Opening, Monitoring and Supporting the World's Parliaments and Legislative Institutions

<http://www.openingparliament.org/>

OpeningParliament.org is a forum intended to help connect the world's civic organizations engaged in monitoring, supporting and opening up their countries' parliaments and legislative institutions. Parliamentary monitoring organizations (PMOs) are working to create strong, open and accountable parliaments, through enhancing citizen participation in the legislative process and bringing parliaments closer to the people they represent. OpeningParliament.org provides a forum for international collaboration on efforts to improve access to parliamentary information and share experiences and good practices among PMOs. It also serves as the home of the Declaration on Parliamentary Openness, a set of shared principles on the openness, transparency and accessibility of parliaments developed by the international PMO community. OpeningParliament.org and the Declaration on Parliamentary Openness are outcomes of a conference of PMOs co-hosted by the National Democratic Institute, the Sunlight Foundation, and Latin American Network for Legislative Transparency, in Washington, D.C. The conference, held from April 30-May 2, 2012, brought together PMOs from 38 countries worldwide to facilitate discussion of international strategies for improving access to useable parliamentary information and sharing good practices in advocating for parliamentary transparency and in monitoring parliamentary performance. The gathering was supported by the Omidyar Network, the Open Society Foundations, the National Endowment for Democracy, the World Bank Institute and the Embassy of Mexico to the United States. Truth Teller - Fact Check in Real Time Speeches

<http://truthteller.washingtonpost.com/>

Truth Teller is a news application built by the Washington Post with funding from a Knight News Prototype grant. The goal of Truth Teller is to fact check speeches in as close to real time as possible. The three-month prototype built by the Post is an enormous step in that direction. The genesis of Truth Teller was fairly well captured in this Poynter piece, which came out around the time the funding was announced. (One note: the politician mentioned was Michele Bachmann — a she, not a he.) The Truth Teller prototype was built and runs with a combination of several technologies — some new, some very familiar. They have combined video and audio extraction with a speech-to-text technology to search a database of facts and fact checks. They are effectively taking in video, converting the audio to text (the rough transcript below the video), matching that text to their database, and then displaying, in real time, what's true and what's false. 15Five - Know the Pulse of Your Company

<http://www.15five.com/>

15Five is based on a simple idea. Have each employee spend 15 minutes a week writing a report that takes their manager no more than 5 minutes to read. We've taken that idea to the next level by turning reports into conversations, and making it simple for managers to roll up the most important problems, insights, ideas and success stories. Surface problems, celebrate wins, discover great ideas and stay tuned in to morale. Benefits include: a) Employees Feel Heard - Employees feel heard and are more engaged. They have the opportunity to contribute based on their unique skills, abilities and perspectives; b) Managers Save Time - Managers save an enormous amount of time gathering and escalating feedback from their team; c) CEO Stays Informed - CEOs get a weekly snapshot of their entire company with zero effort; and d) Entire Company Stays in The Loop - Everyone stays in the loop with what's most important. Conversations about important issues are kept out of email where they might otherwise be lost. This has been added to the tools section of Research Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog. LinkFester - Creates Daily Linkfests for Blog or eMail

<http://www.linkfest.com/linkfester>

LinkFester is a tool to make it easier to put together a daily linkfest for a blog, or email rundown. Start by bookmarking the pages you want to post using Diigo, Instapaper, or another social bookmarking tool that publishes an RSS feed. LinkFester will read the specified RSS feed, and return it as a list of HTML links or markdown. Markdown is a little easier to read and edit than HTML. Some blogs / editors let you post markdown, and it can be translated to HTML by a web app like Daring Fireball's Markdown Web Dingus, or a native editor like Mou for Mac OS X Lion, or Texts. Producteev - Manage Your Tasks Seamlessly From Anywhere

<http://www.producteev.com/>

Producteev helps you organize your tasks and projects in the simplest way. With their web, desktop and mobile apps, you can access your to-dos from anywhere. The idea that became Producteev was born out of numerous gripe sessions between a group of interface experts and web application coders (that's them). They all needed a good task management application, but none of them (believe them, they tried!) could find one that really did the job. They wanted a fully-featured task management application, with a user interface that made sense—something they didn't have to devote a couple of hours learning how to use. They wanted to be able to get a clear overview of the status of any project, anytime and from any place. They needed to be able to collaborate effortlessly, updating project information in many different ways: web, email, IM, mobile, desktop... and they needed to be able to share information in real time with all their team members, no matter how computer-savvy they are ... or aren't. They couldn't find that perfect application, so they decided to build it! Producteev will evolve regularly; they have a lot of great new features in development. The Economist: World in 2013

<http://www.economist.com/theworldin/2013>

What is the world like in 2013? It's a great question, and The Economist has a few answers. Each year, this publication publishes a guide to the trends and quandaries that will consume the attention of policy-makers, politicians, concerned citizens, and others across the globe. The materials here include political analyses, technology reports, and commentaries on culture. The pieces here are divided into sections that include Leaders, Britain, Europe, Asia, China, and numerous others. Visitors can look through each area for commentaries with titles like "Pakistan and Bangladesh make history," "Manufacturing the future," and "Vermeer via Bowie." The Latest Blog Posts area contains updates on everything from tea in Sierra Leone to the political milieu of the Czech Republic. Additionally, visitors shouldn't miss the Multimedia area for up-to-date reports on these topics. This has been added to Research Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog.

Common Crawl Foundation is a California 501(c)3 registered non-profit founded by Gil Elbaz with the goal of democratizing access to web information by producing and maintaining an open repository of web crawl data that is universally accessible and analyzable. As the largest and most diverse collection of information in human history, the web grants us tremendous insight if we can only understand it better. For example, web crawl data can be used to spot trends and identify patterns in politics, economics, health, popular culture and many other aspects of life. It provides an immensely rich corpus for scientific research, technological advancement, and innovative new businesses. It is crucial for our information-based society that the web be openly accessible to anyone who desires to utilize it. They strive to be transparent in all of their operations and they support nofollow and robots.txt. For more information about the ccBot, please see their FAQ. ATYQ - Answer-question Blog and Search Engine

<http://blog.atyq.info/>

ATYQ stands for Answers To Your Questions. It is a answers-questions blog where everyone can write articles. However, the quality of the posts is manually verified. If you want to answer to the questions of the community, you can write an article for ATYQ. If you want to search in our databases of answers, you can use the Ask Engine. It will help you to find answers to your questions. ATYQ find answers on article written by the community. These results are given by Google which visits frequently our website to see new articles and to index them in its database. If you create an article, it may not appear until two or three days on the Ask Engine: we must verify if it is an article of good quality, otherwise delete or modify it if necessary. The Ask Engine of ATYQ works like a search engine: it helps you to find answers to your questions (with pictures, videos and articles from our databases). Instead the blog is the source of the content, with organized text and images. This has been added to Internet Experts Subject Tracer™ Information Blog.

Online OCR - Free Web-Based Optical Character Recognition (OCR) Software

<http://www.onlineocr.net/>

If you have a scanned document and want to avoid retyping your document, Free Online OCR service is the fast way to do it. OnlineOCR.net is a free web-based Optical Character Recognition software (OCR) that allows you to convert scanned PDF documents (including multipage files), faxes, photographs or digital camera captured images into editable and searchable electronic documents including Adobe PDF, Microsoft Word, Microsoft Excel, Rtf, Html and Txt. Converted documents look exactly like the original - tables, columns, bullets and graphics. With OnlineOCR.net users can process documents in 32 languages including English, Danish, Dutch, French, German, Greek, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish and others. Free Online OCR is a free service in a "Guest mode" (without registration) that allows you to convert 15 images per hour. figshare - Get Credit for All Your Research

<http://figshare.com/>

figshare allows researchers to publish all of their research outputs in seconds in an easily citable, sharable and discoverable manner. All file formats can be published, including videos and datasets that are often demoted to the supplemental materials section in current publishing models. By opening up the peer review process, researchers can easily publish null results, avoiding the file drawer effect and helping to make scientific research more efficient. figshare uses creative commons licensing to allow frictionless sharing of research data whilst allowing users to maintain their ownership. figshare gives users unlimited public space and 1GB of private storage space for free. figshare is based in London and is supported by Digital Science. Digital Science's relationship with figshare represents the first of its kind in the company's history: a community-based, open science project that will retain its autonomy whilst receiving support from the division. HotspotShield - Internet Privacy and WiFi Security Wherever You Are

<http://www.hotspotshield.com/>

Hotspot Shield VPN is the ultimate Internet security solution that secures your browsing session, detects and blocks malware, protects your privacy and allows you to access blocked sites. Hotspot Shield is available both as a free VPN and a paid Hotspot Shield Elite subscription. Key Benefits to using Hotspot Shield include: a) Secure your web session, data, online shopping, and personal information online with HTTPS encryption; b) Protect yourself from identity theft online; c) Secure your IP address for your privacy online and private browsing; d) Access all content privately without censorship; bypass firewalls; f) Protect yourself from snoopers at Wi-Fi hotspots, hotels, airports and corporate offices; g) VPN client works on both wireless and wired connections. Provides Unlimited Bandwidth; and h) Works on PC and Mac, including new operating systems (Windows 8 and Mountain Lion). Hotspot Shield protects your entire web surfing session, securing your connection at both your home Internet network & Public Internet networks (both wired and wireless). Hotspot Shield free proxy protects your identity by ensuring that all web transactions (shopping, filling out forms, downloads) are secured through HTTPS. Hotspot Shield also makes you private online, making your identity invisible to third party websites and ISP's. Unless you choose to sign into a certain site, you will surf anonymously during your entire web session with Hotspot Shield. We love the web because of the freedom that it creates to explore, organize, and communicate. Hotspot Shield VPN Client enables access to all information online, providing freedom to access all web content freely and securely. Secure your entire web session and ensure your privacy online; your passwords, credit card numbers, and all of your data is secured with Hotspot Shield. The standard antivirus software protects your computer, but not your web activities. That's why AnchorFree is pleased to offer Hotspot Shield. Their application keeps your Internet connection secure, private, and anonymous. This will be added to Privacy Resources Subject Tracer™. The latest research shows that when prospects search for your company on the Internet, the top 10 listings are likely to include the following:

- a) 3 listings from consumer posts to blogs, message boards, and opinion sites,
- b) 2 listings from experts,
- c) 2 listings from your own corporate site,
- d) 1 listing from an online publication, and
- e) 2 listings from other sources.

This confirms the need for immediate business intelligence to constantly monitor and evaluate the prospects ongoing searching results for your company, brand, and product. [Marcus P. FOIAonline - Freedom of Information Act Online

<https://foiaonline.regulations.gov/foia/action/public/home>

The Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) gives you the right to access information from federal agencies. FOIAonline allows you to submit FOIA requests to all participating agencies from this website, track the status of requests, search for requests submitted by others, and generate up-to-the-minute reports on FOIA processing. FOIAonline participating agencies include: the Environmental Protection Agency, Department of Commerce (except the US Patent and Trademark Office), Office of General Counsel of the National Archives and Records Administration, Merit Systems Protection Board, Federal Labor Relations Authority, and the Department of the Treasury's Departmental Offices (headquarters), Alcohol and Tobacco Tax and Trade Bureau, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Bureau of the Fiscal Service, Financial Crimes Enforcement Network (FinCEN), and United States Mint. Please note that the Internal Revenue Service, Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, and Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration are not participating in FOIAonline. Moreover, Treasury only participates in FOIAonline to the extent of allowing submission of requests; Treasury manages processing in a separate system. A chart provides further details on the information available in FOIAonline by participating agency. Requests under the Privacy Act must be sent directly to the appropriate agency. Consumer Complaint Database

<http://www.consumerfinance.gov/complaintdatabase/>

This contains data from the consumer credit card complaints received by the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau. They do not verify the accuracy of all facts alleged in these complaints, but we do take steps to confirm a commercial relationship between the consumer and the identified company. Complaints are listed after the company responds or after they have had the complaint for 15 calendar days, whichever comes first. Complaints can be removed if they don't meet all of the policy statement's publication criteria. Data is refreshed daily. This will be added to Entrepreneurial Resources Subject Tracer™.

UCLA Library Broadcast NewsScape

<http://newsscape.library.ucla.edu/>

The UCLA Library has launched the UCLA Library Broadcast NewsScape, which contains nearly two hundred thousand news programs from the United States and around the world from 2005 to the present. The collection provides streaming of news content and includes time-stamped closed caption texts as well as transcripts of many broadcasts, offering advanced search functions to create a transformative platform that enables new and expansive possibilities for teaching, research and scholarship. The NewsScape library was created by scholars and faculty in the Department of Communications Studies at UCLA in close collaboration with the UCLA Library. The UCLA Library is providing the NewsScape collection as a research and educational tool to the UCLA community in the winter of 2013. During its initial launch, it will be accessible at newsscape.library.ucla.edu to all individuals with authenticated UCLA network credentials and those who connect from off-campus via the UCLA virtual private network. We hope to make this collection available to the broader University of California scholarly community of students, faculty and researchers in spring 2013. Development of the technological infrastructure of the UCLA Library Broadcast NewsScape was partially funded by a National Science Foundation Cyber-enabled Discovery and Innovation grant. The project also received support from the Arcadia Fund. This has been added to the tools section of Research Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog. Understanding the Deep Web In 10 Minutes

<http://www.brightplanet.com/2013/03/whitepaper-understanding-the-deep-web-in-10-minutes/>

What is the Deep Web and why should you care? Whether you are searching for unstructured Big Data or trying to answer narrowly targeted questions, what you need can typically be found somewhere within the millions of Deep Web sources. Download our latest whitepaper to learn the answers to common questions asked by curious customers wanting to create actionable intelligence from the Deep Web. This may shock you, but Google can't find everything. Google is only a Surface Web search engine. The Deep Web is a part of the internet not accessible to link-crawling search engines like Google. In their latest whitepaper you will learn: a) Where the Deep Web is, and how it compares to the Surface Web and Dark Web; b) Why you should care about the Deep Web; c) The difference between a search engine and a Deep Web harvest engine; d) How data is harvested from the Deep Web; and e) Deep Web harvest use cases. Download their free whitepaper to learn what the Deep Web is, how you can search it, what you'll find there, and why Google can't find everything. This will be added to my Deep Web Research and Discovery Resources 2013.

Big Web Stats

<http://www.bigwebstats.com/>

BigWebStats provides detailed statistics about any website. Using their reliable stats of websites across the web, you can find out how your website is stacked up against your competitors. Get in-depth insights about your website or your competitors website. These include visitors insights, social buzz, SEO basics, SEO on-page, SEO off-page, keyword rankings, domain information, similar websites, usability, security and technology insights. The best part is - it's free! You can generate unlimited instant reviews and get statistics about any website. Get tips to optimize and monitor your website. BigWebStats uses its proprietary technology to give a BigScore to every website it reviews. The BigScore is based on a website review of 50 factors ranging from SEO to usability and social buzz. Far more than a number, BigScore is based on hundreds of sources of data which helps us evaluate the quality of a website. Their data is their most important asset and what they are most proud of. BigWebStats gathers volumes of raw data from multiple sources and presents it to users in a clear format that allows them to quickly find the information they need. Awarenesswatch™ Paper Review

What's On Your Mind? Social Media Monopolies and Noopower by Robert William Gehl

<http://firstmonday.org/htbin/cgiwrap/bin/ojs/index.php/fm/article/view/4618>

Abstract:

This paper explores the age-old tension between the radical possibilities of thought and the institutions seeking to constrain thought as this tension plays out in social media sites such as Facebook, Twitter, and Google. I argue that these social media sites are becoming key institutions of noopower, or the power to modulate thoughts. Older institutions of power, such as states, militaries, and marketers, have begun to exercise noopower through and at social media in an effort to always be on our minds.
