V12N9

September 2014

Welcome to the V12N9 September 2014 issue of the Awareness Watch™ Newsletter. This newsletter is available as a complimentary subscription and will be issued monthly. Each newsletter will feature the following:

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report
Awareness Watch™ Spotters
Awareness Watch™ Book/Paper/Article Review
Subject Tracer™ Information Blogs

I am always open to feedback from readers so please feel free to email with all suggestions, reviews and new resources that you feel would be appropriate for inclusion in an upcoming issue of Awareness Watch™. This is an ongoing work of creativity and you will be observing constant changes, constant updates knowing that “change” is the only thing that will remain constant!!

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report

This month’s featured report covers the following areas and subjects that are constantly monitored by our Subject Tracer™ Bots from both the world wide web and deep web. The areas and subjects covered in this month’s Awareness Watch are as follows:

Peer to Peer (P2P), File Sharing, Grid and Matrix Search Engines

Semantic Web Research Resources

Artificial Intelligence Resources

Bot and Intelligent Agent Research Resources and Sites

PLAYCANVAS - Open Source Game Engine

<https://playcanvas.com/>

PLAYCANVAS was founded in London, UK in 2011 and is the world's first cloud-hosted game development platform. It's a social hub where game developers have a next-generation toolset that focusses on real-time collaboration where users can build, share and play video games. Their game engine gives you all the features you need to make stunning 3D games in your browser or on your mobile. Because they use HTML5 and WebGL your game is completely cross-platform: Windows, OS X, Android and iOS. Features include: a) HTML5 & JAVASCRIPT - PlayCanvas uses the language of the web and interacts seamlessly with existing JS libraries; b) SIMPLE TO USE - Drag and drop 3D models of almost any format into the PlayCanvas Designer; c) REAL-TIME EDITING - Collaborate and view changes from other team members instantly as they happen; d) PUBLISH INSTANTLY - With a single click your game is live on the web; e) WEBGL & GLSL - The open standard for 3D graphics on the web and the most popular shader language; f) MORE THAN JUST GAMES - Use PlayCanvas to create anything interactive. Websites, promos, visualizations; g) GAME DEVELOPER COMMUNITY - Join our growing community of developers. Thousands of designers, coders and artists; and h) FREE HOSTING - Nothing to set up. Just publish and everyone can play. This will be added to Script Resources Subject Tracer™ This will be added to Entrepreneurial Resources Subject Tracer™.

References and Resources for Just-in-Time Teaching

<http://serc.carleton.edu/introgeo/justintime/references.html>

The scholars at the Science Education Resource Center (SERC) at Carleton College have created this set of Just-in-Time Teaching (JiTT) resources designed for the busy educator. Visitors can learn how to use these resources in a range of different disciplines, including biology, chemistry, economics, and the history of photography. Additionally, there is a list of general resources, such as newsletters and articles, that discuss how to implement these practices into the classroom. In the Complementary Pedagogies area visitors can look over helpful "how-tos" in peer instruction, reading question development, and more. Finally, visitors can also sign up to learn when new resources are added to the site. This

Youniverse - Make Yourself Happen

<https://www.youniverse.com/>

Youniverse is an app that helps you understand your unique personality, so you can make the decisions that work best for you. Youniverse is born out of our research into the psychology of over 250 million people from around the world. Working closely with our own psychologists and experts from the University of Cambridge, every insight Youniverse provides is based on an established model for understanding personality. So you can trust you're getting the right advice. Youniverse's powerful architecture allows it to respond intelligently to anything you tell it. Available for desktop, iOS, tablet and as a Chrome plug-in, its understanding travels with you. To be understood is a fundamental human need. It's the reason we have art, language and love. And it's why we created Youniverse: so technology can help everyone be understood for who they really are. Online College Database - Find Online College and Universities Near You

<http://www.onlinecollegesdatabase.org/>

When it comes to college, “choice” may be the most relevant term in the educational landscape. Community colleges, public colleges, private universities, and other institutional models all provide high-quality post-secondary opportunities to thousands of career-minded students each year. Fairly recently, online learning entered the equation, becoming a major (and still growing) component of college-level education. The flexibility inherent in distance learning, whether full-time or hybrid, allows students to juggle school, work and family more effectively than ever. This will be added to Education and Academic Resources Subject Tracer™. This will be added to Student Research Resources Subject Tracer™.

100 Management Experts on Twitter

<http://www.phdinmanagement.org/experts-twitter-account>

Learning from the masters is a time-tested way to excel in any profession, and it is especially relevant in the field of management. Some of the best project managers, CEOs, executive coaches, and leadership experts share their accumulated years of wisdom regularly via Twitter. Following the best of the best in management and business is not only a great way to keep up with best practices, it is also an excellent way to meet potential business partners, mentors, or employers. Twitter has a robust community of managers and businesspeople who are always on the lookout for new opportunities. Participating in that community fosters those mutually beneficial connections. The individuals on this list are the best in their fields. They are experts in a wide range of management and business related topics, including: a) Project Management; b) Staffing, Hiring, And Team Building; and c) Business Strategy & Growth. They have been categorized by their primary field of expertise, and are listed in order of Twitter follower count in each category, though many of these individuals have skills across multiple fields. SheetLabs - Turn Your Spreadsheets Into APIs Effortlessly

<https://sheetlabs.com/>

Sheetlabs turn spreadsheets into well-documented APIs, quickly and easily. Many businesses still share product lists, service coverage areas, or other tabular information with one another using spreadsheets attached to email. There are so many things that can go wrong with this. Sheetlabs was built with the goal of making it really easy for businesses to build APIs on top of their existing spreadsheets. Emailing weekly updates of your product list, service coverage, or your other spreadsheet is sooo last century. Creating an API helps ensure your customers are always using your latest data, and it saves everyone the hassle of dealing with spreadsheets manually. Creating an API to serve up your data needn't be time consuming or complex. Drag & drop your spreadsheet and Sheetlabs will import it automatically. Then create your API with just a few clicks, defining what data you want to expose and to whom. Finally, create accounts for users you want to access your APIs. Sheetlabs automatically generates documentation for your API, including specific code examples for a variety of common programming languages. All you need to do is point your users at the API documentation! Building an API via Sheetlabs puts you back in control of your data. You can restrict users to only access subsets of your data; no longer will you have to expose all of your data to a user just so they can look up one product occasionally. You'll have certainty that your API users are always using your latest data. And you can see exactly who is using your APIs and how often. Global Consumption Database

<http://datatopics.worldbank.org/consumption/>

The Global Consumption Database is a one-stop source of data on household consumption patterns in developing countries. It is designed to serve a wide range of users—from researchers seeking data for analytical studies to businesses seeking a better understanding of the markets into which they are expanding or those they are already serving. The data are based on national household surveys, which collect information for a group of households representative of the entire country. For each of the countries covered, the resulting datasets have been used to calculate the share of the population at different levels of consumption. Four levels of consumption are used to segment the market in each country: lowest, low, middle, and higher. They are based on global income distribution data, which rank the global population by income per capita. The lowest consumption segment corresponds to the bottom half of the global distribution, or the 50th percentile and below; the low consumption segment to the 51th–75th percentiles; the middle consumption segment to the 76th–90th percentiles; and the higher consumption segment to the 91st percentile and above. The Global Consumption Database is the most comprehensive data source to date on consumer spending patterns in developing countries. It builds on the 2007 report The Next 4 Billion, published by IFC (a member of the World Bank Group) and the World Resources Institute. This will be added to the tools section of Research Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog.

Privacy Icons

<https://disconnect.me/icons>

Privacy policies are too complicated and they have simplified them. Privacy Icons shows you a set of icons for every site you visit and search result you see. At a glance, you'll understand the most important terms from a website's privacy policy and other information about how your data is collected, used and handled. These icons evolved from a Mozilla-led working group that included some of the most prominent privacy organizations, like the Electronic Frontier Foundation, Center for Democracy and Technology, and W3C. Privacy Icons is powered by data from the TRUSTe Privacy Policy Database, which includes in-depth analysis of the privacy policies of thousands of websites around the world. Features include: a) Expected Use - Does this website's privacy policy disclose whether data it collects about you is used in ways other than you would reasonably expect given the site's service?; b) Expected Collection - Does this website's privacy policy disclose whether it allows other companies like ad providers and analytics firms to track users on the site?; c) Precise Location - Does this website's privacy policy disclose whether the site or service tracks a user's actual geolocation?; d) Data Retention - Does this website's privacy policy disclose how long they retain your personal data?; e) Do Not Track - Does this website comply with a user's Do Not Track browser preference?; f) Children Privacy - Has this website received TRUSTe's Children's Privacy Certification?; g) SSL Support - Does this website support secure communications over HTTPS by default?; h) Heartbleed - Is this website vulnerable to the heartbleed bug?; and i) TRUSTe Certified - Has this website received TRUSTe's Privacy Certification? This will be added to Privacy Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog.

The DBpedia Data Set (3.9)

<http://wiki.dbpedia.org/Datasets>

The DBpedia data set uses a large multi-domain ontology which has been derived from Wikipedia. The English version of the DBpedia 3.9 data set currently describes 4.0 million “things” with 470 million “facts”. In addition, we provide localized versions of DBpedia in 119 languages. All these versions together describe 24.9 million things, out of which 16.8 million overlap (are interlinked) with concepts from the English DBpedia. The full DBpedia data set features labels and abstracts for 12.6 million unique things in up to 120 different languages; 24.6 million links to images and 27.6 million HTML links to external web pages; 45.0 million data links into external RDF data sets, 67.0 million links to Wikipedia categories, and 41.2 million YAGO categories. The dataset consists of 2.46 billion pieces of information (RDF triples) out of which 470 million were extracted from the English edition of Wikipedia, 1.98 billion were extracted from other language editions, and about 45 million are data links to external RDF data sets. This has been added to the tools section of Research Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog. This will be added to Statistics Resources and Big Data Subject Tracer™.

3D Printing in Space

http://www.nap.edu/catalog.php?record_id=18871

First we thought that 3D printing was just a pipe dream, the stuff of science fiction. Now, we know it to be very real with numerous innovations to follow. This recent report from the National Materials and Manufacturing Board's Division of Engineering and Physical Sciences suggests that 3D printing in space will soon be a reality. Published in July 2014, this 100-page report contains a range of findings on the future of additive manufacturing and its potential in space. The basic idea is that scientists in space could manufacture replacement parts and tools while in-orbit. Visitors are welcome to download and read the entire report, which will be of great interest to scientists, engineers, and others fascinated by the future of technological innovation. This will be added to the tools section of Research Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog. [From The Scout Report, Copyright Internet Scout 1994-2014. <https://www.scout.wisc.edu>]

Awarenesswatch™ Paper Review

Follow the Money: A Study of Cashtags on Twitter by Martin Hentschel and Omar Alonso

<http://firstmonday.org/ojs/index.php/fm/article/view/5385>

Abstract:

The popularity of Twitter goes beyond trending topics, world events, memes, and popular hashtags. Recently a new way of sharing financial information is taking place in social media under the name of cashtags, stock ticker symbols that are prefixed with a dollar sign. In this paper we present an exploratory analysis of cashtags on Twitter. Specifically, we investigate how widespread cashtags are, what stock symbols are tweeted more often, and which users tweet about cashtags in general. We analyze relationships among cashtags and study hashtags in the context of cashtags. Finally, we compare tweet performance to stock market performance. We conclude that cashtags, in particular in combination with other cashtags or hashtags, can be very useful for analyzing financial information and provide new insights into stocks and companies.
