Awareness Watch™ Newsletter

By Marcus P. Zillman, M.S., A.M.H.A.

V13N6 June 2015

Welcome to the V13N6 June 2015 issue of the Awareness Watch™ Newsletter. This newsletter is available as a complimentary subscription and is issued monthly. Each newsletter will feature the following:

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report
Awareness Watch™ Spotters
Awareness Watch™ Book/Paper/Article Review
Subject Tracer™ Information Blogs

I am always open to feedback from readers so please feel free to email with all suggestions, reviews and new resources that you feel would be appropriate for inclusion in an upcoming issue of Awareness Watch™. This is an ongoing work of creativity and you will be observing constant changes, constant updates knowing that "change" is the only thing that will remain constant!!

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report

This month's feature covers two timely and topical reports: Financial Sources for the Family Office and Crowd Funding Resources 2015. These are comprehensive listings of financial and crowd funding search engines, sources and sites available currently from the Internet. As more and more of the Internet global business population is utilizing these financial sources and growdfunding resources that are available from the Internet, this V13N6 June 2015 Awareness Watch Newsletter brings you a plethora of these relevant sources for your virtual private library on your desk top, laptop, tablet or smartphone. Now all your financial online information needs are just a click or tap away! The sites are always updated and available at the following URLs:

Smart Grid
https://www.smartgrid.gov/
Maybe you have heard of the Smart Grid on the news or from your energy provider. But not everyone knows what the grid is, let alone the Smart Grid. "The grid," refers to the electric grid, a network of transmission lines, substations, transformers and more that deliver electricity from the power plant to your home or business. It's what you plug into when you flip on your light switch or power up your computer. Our current electric grid was built in the 1890s and improved upon as technology advanced through each decade. Today, it consists of more than 9,200 electric generating units with more than 1 million megawatts of generating capacity connected to more than 300,000 miles of transmission lines. Although the electric grid is considered an engineering marvel, we are stretching its patchwork nature to its capacity. To move forward, we need a new kind of electric grid, one that is built from the bottom up to handle the groundswell of digital and computerized equipment and technology dependent on it—and one that can automate and manage the increasing complexity and needs of electricity in the 21st Century. In short, the digital technology that allows for two-way communication between the utility and its customers, and the sensing along the transmission lines is what makes the grid smart. Like the Internet, the Smart Grid will consist of controls, computers, automation, and new technologies and equipment working together, but in this case, these technologies will work with the electrical grid to respond digitally to our quickly changing electric demand. The Smart Grid represents an unprecedented opportunity to move the energy industry into a new era of reliability, availability, and efficiency that will contribute to our economic and environmental health. During the transition period, it will be critical to carry out testing, technology improvements, consumer education, development of standards and regulations, and information sharing between projects to ensure that the benefits we envision from the Smart Grid become a reality. Glitchi - Share Privately Messaging App That Protects You From Getting Hacked http://glitchi.me/
Share Privately - Glitchi is an app that protects you from getting hacked remotely (and it's super fun!) What inspired them? As we watched the celebrity hacks unfold, we realized this could happen to any one of us. It became our vision to create a solution that makes internet a safer place. How it Works - Just between us - Every friend in glitchi has a public and a private key. You "lock" the message with your friend's public key and send it their way. Once they receive it, they can "unlock" and the message with their private key. The picture is not accessible outside of you guys' phones. With your touch - Only on your phone - At glitchi,they don't store the private keys of users in their servers. This prevents anyone who gains access to our servers from decrypting your messages. Including them! Your private key is securely stored in your iPhone. With Touch ID, you're the only one that can receive and decrypt a glitchi. No passwords, no password hints - glitchi doesn't ask for a password to remember or to provide security answers that could be compromised. They use your phone number and touch ID to validate your iPhone. That's why your glitchies are only available on your personal iPhone. You won't find your stuff on the web - Internet does not delete, nor forget. glitchi platform and the internet does not have ability to decrypt. If our servers get hacked, your messages and photos are not accessible. This will be added to Privacy Resources Subject Tracer™.

Centroy - Online Team Collaboration Made Simple
https://centroy.com/Working better begins with working smarter. Connect your employees, customers and partners in a private online community. Share documents, create wikis, manage tasks and live chat with instant notifications. When launching an Intranet or Extranet site, companies often find user participation lacking. Online team collaboration must be dead simple for everyone involved. That's why we design with people in mind so teams start adopting immediately. Simplicity does not come at a cost to security. Bank-grade encryption, password-protection, granular permission roles, and customized branding templates let you quickly launch Intranet and Extranet sites as an extension of your business. Features include: 1) Central Access - Collaboration software to privately work with your team in one place; 2) Secure and Private - Security you can trust. Protected with bank grade encryption; and 3) All Sizes - Collaboration solutions that fit across all industries and company sizes. How It Works: a) Simple collaboration tools - Centroy's online collaboration tools let you manage files, track projects, create wikis, and schedule meetings with easy to use features. Select which groupware applications you want to use, and manage your teams from any device; b) Central administrative control - Administrators can manage unlimited private groups and assign strict permission roles to users, giving them customized access to specific information. Restrict and share what you want, when you want, from a central administrative dashboard; c) Brand as your own - Look better with your clients and partners. Business intranets and extranet sites can be custom-branded with your own website colors and logo to make your collaboration portal become a natural extension of your website. Our designers offer free graphics support; d) See what's coming up - Organize tasks, due dates and assign owners so projects get completed on time with better accuracy. Knowing what needs to get done next is often the most important part of any project. Centroy lets the entire team know the exact status of every project; and e) Instant updates - Get notified instantly through email when members post updates. Whether you're at your computer or your mobile device, Centroy lets you know when new information is available. Stay informed wherever you are, at any time. Request a thumb USB drive of archived files. This will be added to the tools section of Research Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog. Airtable - Organize Everything https://airtable.com/

On the surface, it's the spreadsheet reimagined. Spreadsheets were invented over 30 years ago, purpose-built for performing complex numerical analysis. They haven't changed much since then, but their usage has. Today, spreadsheets are most commonly used as makeshift databases to organize anything from sales leads to travel plans. This is a painful solution, as even simple things like entering multi-lined notes into a cell requires an exercise in arcane commands. Airtable is a new organizational tool designed around the way you actually work. Airtable neatly formats your table rows as easily tappable cards on mobile. It's much more than just a pretty way to view your data: you can add new columns, attach files, share tables, and nearly anything else that you can do from your desktop. Attach files directly to the rows in your table with integrations to over 12 services, including Dropbox, Box, Evernote and Google Drive. With seamless inline previews of your images and documents, your tables become an elegant visual container for your content. Easily share your tables and see changes as they happen. View a living history of who made what change, and when. Chat and mention teammates in the context of your tables - it's all built right in. Despite its lightweight and flexible interface, Airtable is powered by a powerful relational database. Unlike spreadsheets, which quickly become messy and unmanageable, Airtable allows you to create the structure that perfectly matches your workflow. You get the benefits of a custom-built application tailored to your exact needs, but you can create and update it yourself without any technical expertise or training required. Effortlessly connect related data by linking one record to another, like a person and their company, or a furniture item and its vendor. Linked records show up as expandable cards, allowing you to bring up related information with a single click or tap. A view lets you sort, filter, and rearrange columns and rows in a table. Each view remembers its own settings; you can create multiple views to quickly toggle between different perspectives on your table. Or, give each collaborator their own view so they can see exactly what they want, without impacting what's seen by others. Every table you create in Airtable comes with its own API, so you can integrate with your existing systems or build additional functionality on top of Airtable. June 2015 Zillman Column - Resources for Extracting Information from the World Wide Web http://columns.virtualprivatelibrary.net/Info_Extractors_Res_June15_Column.pdf

35

http://www.zillmancolumns.com/
The June 2015 Zillman Column features Resources for Extracting Information from the World Wide Web by Marcus P. Zillman, M.S., A.M.H.A. and is a comprehensive listing of data extraction resources currently available on the Internet. Extracting data from the World Wide Web (WWW) has become an important issue in the last few years as the number of web pages available on the visible Internet has grown to billions of pages with over trillions of pages available from the invisible web. Tools and protocols to extract all this information have now come in demand as researchers as well as web browsers and surfers want to discover new knowledge at an ever increasing rate! As robots (bots) and intelligent agents are at the heart of many extraction tools I decided to create a compilation of the latest sources and sites that extract information from the web. There are a number of eMail extraction tools still available through the Internet and I have decided not to list these as they aid to the on-going and increasing problem of SPAM except for a readily available DMOZ Directory listing. The below compilation of sources is taken from my white paper titled Web Data Extractors and is constantly updated with Subject Tracer™ bots at the following URL: http://www.WebDataExtractors.com/. Download this excellent freely available 19 page 168KB pdf column today and begin your online knowledge discovery into extracting information from the World Wide Web including excellent sources, tools, and sites!. This is another MUST have column in today's ever changing and New Economy world!!

Clara - Digital Employee That Schedules Meetings
https://claralabs.com/
Clara is a highly-automated system that handles coordinating meetings over email and manages the complexity of your calendar. Clara Labs focuses on maintaining both the strengths of a software solution (ease of use, consistency, reliability) and the nuanced social understanding of humans (contextual awareness, empathy). The product of this approach has created a truly best-in-class employee: Clara. On the backend, our sophisticated human-centric software helps us generate appropriate text-based email responses to email threads. Human oversight- in the interest of consistent service quality- is maintained, and an account manager is dedicated to providing additional support in-office. Pastelink - Create and Publish Plain Text Containing Links http://www.pastelink.net/
Write text, web addresses or a mixture of the two and publish your creation. All web addresses will be converted to hyperlinks automatically. Just separate them with a space or a new line. After you press publish, a page will be created with your content - copy and share the address to let others see it too! Collapse all hyperlinks to references, icons or numbers. Prevent unsightly URLS within text and allow readers to focus on content. References will be collapsed down to numbers and the full addresses will be listed below the body of your text. Provide a passcode with a submission and use it to edit anytime. This passcode will be one-way encrypted then shown to all readers - use the same code again to anonymously link authorship! There is no way to reverse this encrytion process - someone would have to guess your passcode. The passcode you give must be at least 40 characters, or allow us to randomly create one for you. Normally websites can see where their visitors came from. Optionally force all links to redirect through Google, effectively hiding your post from view. This has been added to the tools section of Research Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog. This will be added to Entrepreneurial Resources Subject Tracer™.

HTTPS-Only Standard
https://https.cio.gov/
The American people expect government websites to be secure and their interactions with those websites to be private. Hypertext Transfer Protocol Secure (HTTPS) offers the strongest privacy protection available for public web connections with today's internet technology. The use of HTTPS reduces the risk of interception or modification of user interactions with government online services. This proposed initiative, "The HTTPS-Only Standard," would require the use of HTTPS on all publicly accessible Federal websites and web services. Goal: All publicly accessible Federal websites and web services [1] only provide service over a secure connection. The strongest privacy protection currently available for public web connections is Hypertext Transfer Protocol Secure (HTTPS). StartOpz - Automation for Your Operations https://www.startopz.com/StartOpz helps you manage many of the operational aspects of your business, such as bills, invoices, employee travel, time off, and expense reports, in one place rather than across many different applications and spreadsheets. Designed with standard operating procedures (SOPs) in mind it delivers to you a daily email that shows what needs your attention to ensure your business is operating optimally while you focus your limited time on creating value. Features include: a) Easily track bills so you know what to pay and when. Create client invoices and see at a glance what is owed by whom, and if invoices are outstanding; b) Make it easy for employees to request time off. Squeeze in a day for yourself as well; c) Employees can track and submit travel, mileage, and general expense reports. Each expense can be associated with a client; d) For a small office the typical I.T. helpdesk software is overkill. Why use a separate ticketing system when you can tie it in with the rest of your employee support? This will be added to the tools section of Research Resources. Rabbits - Grunt-Work Programming Tasks Quickly Delivered https://ilikerabbits.com/Email the address given to have any simple, grunt-work programming task quickly delivered. Any small, well-defined programming task. Roughly, a task shouldn't take more than six hours, or feel like its spec sheet needs to be a separate file. (A consultant is a better option in that case anyway.) If you're not sure, ask! If we can't do it, we'll tell you. We'll never waste your time or money. Some examples of things we're really good at are: a) Connecting various APIs or fetching data from sites; b) Munging data in a straightforward way; c) Writing small, black-box code snippets for other developers to "plug in"; and d) Turning e.g. Photoshop mockups into HTML/CSS. The unifying idea, though, is for everything to magically just work: anything you'd describe as something you "just need someone to do," send it to us and we'll get it done. his will be added to Internet Experts Subject Tracer™. Web Distributed Authoring and Versioning (WebDAV)

http://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/WebDAV Web Distributed Authoring and Versioning (WebDAV) is an extension of the Hypertext Transfer Protocol (HTTP) that allows clients to perform remote Web content authoring operations. A working group of the Internet Engineering Task Force (IETF) defined WebDAV in RFC 4918. The WebDAV protocol makes the Web a readable and writable medium.[1] It provides a framework for users to create, change and move documents on a server; typically a web server or web share. The most important features of the WebDAV protocol include the maintenance of properties about an author or modification date, namespace management, collections, and overwrite protection. Maintenance of properties includes such things as the creation, removal, and querying of file information. Namespace management deals with the ability to copy and move web pages within a server's namespace. Collections deal with the creation, removal, and listing of various resources. Lastly, overwrite protection handles aspects related to locking of files. The WebDAV working group concluded its work in March 2007, after the Internet Engineering Steering Group (IESG) accepted an incremental update to RFC 2518. Other extensions left unfinished at that time, such as the BIND method, have been finished by their individual authors, independent of the formal working group. Many modern operating systems provide built-in client-side support for WebDAV. This will be added to World Wide Web Reference Subject Tracer™. This will be added to Script Resources Subject Tracer™.

Can Regimes Really Discourage Social Networking? Urbanization, Mobile Phone Use, and the Dictator's Plight by Shin Kaeng Lee http://firstmonday.org/ojs/index.php/fm/article/view/5420

Abstract:
Are dictators ever really successful at hindering the diffusion of social networking services (SNSs)? This study reports a panel data analysis on 181 countries observed from 2010 to 2013, to assess country-level predictors of Facebook adoption. The findings show that the spread of such a global SNS decelerates as perceptions of democratic governance deteriorate above and beyond socioeconomic and infrastructural development. Nevertheless, once dictatorship fails to maintain socio-political stability, the diffusion of Facebook accelerates to a greater extent than in democracy. This trend could transcend institutional constraints, as well as socioeconomic developments, because of widespread proliferation of mobile phone use in addition to increasing wireless or shared connectivity in urban areas.
