V15N4

April 2017

Welcome to the V15N4 April 2017 issue of the Awareness Watch™ Newsletter. This newsletter is available as a complimentary subscription and is issued monthly. Each newsletter will feature the following:

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report

Awareness Watch™ Spotters

Awareness Watch™ Book/Paper/Article Review

Subject Tracer™ Information Blogs

I am always open to feedback from readers so please feel free to email with all suggestions, reviews and new resources that you feel would be appropriate for inclusion in an upcoming issue of Awareness Watch™. This is an ongoing work of creativity and you will be observing constant changes, constant updates knowing that “change” is the only thing that will remain constant!!

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report

This month’s featured report covers Business Intelligence 2017 and represents the latest World Wide Web resources for discovering new knowledge and understanding the latest happenings with regards to the rapidly changing and absolutely amazing area of business intelligence (BI). The world is rapidly changing as transparency, big data and the ability to access data from new and now accessible databases becomes a reality! These resources are constantly updated by my Subject Tracer™ Information Bots and the latest resources for business intelligence are available from the following URL:

<http://www.BIResources.info/>

This is one of the fastest growing and changing areas in business and these resources will help to keep you current and up to date within business analytics as well as business intelligence. These resources will help you to discover the many pathways available to you through the Internet to find the latest business intelligence resources, sources and sites and to actively participate in the New Economy happenings and events!

Scraps - Collect Your Thoughts and Transform Them Into Ideas

<http://scraps.cc/>

Features include: a) Organize Your Thoughts - Scraps is a beautiful app for iPhone that helps you collect your thoughts and transform them into ideas. It introduces scrapbox, a place that stores small bits of text or photos you would otherwise dismiss. A single thought might be out of context, but a group of thoughts might make a lot of sense together. You can favorite and archive scraps, or you can organize them into collections and begin forming ideas; b) When in Rome...Much like it matters for a beautiful photo, so it can be important for an idea to know where it popped into your head. This is why every scrap you make can have a location attached. An integrated scrapmap makes it easy to find where scraps were created and to identify places that inspire you most; c) iCloud - You should be able to browse your thoughts everywhere, no matter where they were created. Scraps is designed to work with iCloud. It pushes all your thoughts into the cloud and makes them accessible on every iOS device you own; and d) A Piece of Mind - Some ideas are too fragile to be shared with anybody. Scraps allows you to set a password lock for the entire app, so nobody else can read your thoughts without your permission. ## Word Counter

<https://wordcounter.net>

Word Counter is a free tool that allows users to quickly analyze a piece of text. Initially created in 2009 as a simple word count tool, the team behind Word Counter has since added a number of features that will be of interest to writers and instructors alike. Today, Word Counter measures not only the number of words in a text, but also measures sentence length, keyword density, estimated reading level, and estimated reading time. Users can find out this information by simply pasting any amount of text into a text box. Word Counter is a useful tool for writers looking to avoid repetition or for instructors interested in the reading level of a specific text. (Of course, no estimated reading level assessment is perfect. The team behind Word Counter includes an explanation of how reading level and reading time are calculated, so users can use this tool in an informed way. ## SciFri - News and Entertaining Stories About Science

<http://www.sciencefriday.com/>

Science Friday is your trusted source for news and entertaining stories about science. For 25 years they have introduced top scientists to public radio listeners, and reminded them how much fun it is to learn something new. But they are more than just a radio show. They produce award-winning digital videos, original web articles, and educational resources for teachers and informal educators. They like to say we're brain fun, for curious people. All of their work is independently produced by the Science Friday Initiative, a non-profit organization dedicated to increasing the public's access to science and scientific information. Public Radio International (PRI) distributes their radio show, which you can catch on public radio stations across the U.S. This will be added to Research Resources Subject Tracer™. quickly tally numbers by simply tapping on the screen. Users can also create multiple tallies at once by swiping their screens to the right and can save tallies to their iCloud account or email, or text their tallies to anyone. Finally, Tally allows users to "count" in increments of any number (e.g. by twos or sevens.) So why use Tally? Users may find this app helpful in classroom settings or in meetings as an easy way to track participation. Others may want to use this app while playing board or card games.

Confide - Your Confidential Messenger

<https://getconfide.com/>

Confide is a confidential messenger. It allows you to have honest, unfiltered, off-the-record conversations. It allows you to speak freely, without the risk of what you say being forwarded on or permanently stored, just like when you're talking in person. It's really simple. Receive messages from your friends and colleagues, "wand" over the words with your finger or mouse to read them, and watch them disappear without a trace when you're done. They're gone for good — no forwarding, no printing and no archiving. They employ end-to-end encryption to ensure conversations remain confidential and are private to you. Even Confide cannot decrypt or see any messages. Yes, after messages are read once they disappear. This will be added to Privacy Resources Subject Tracer™. ### The Data Librarian's Handbook

<http://www.facetpublishing.co.uk/title.php?id=300471#.WHfUw1ziCU>

An insider's guide to data librarianship packed full of practical examples and advice for any library and information professional learning to deal with data. Interest in data has been growing in recent years. Support for this peculiar class of digital information – its use, preservation and curation, and how to support researchers' production and consumption of it in ever greater volumes to create new knowledge, is needed more than ever. Many librarians and information professionals are finding their working life is pulling them toward data support or research data management but lack the skills required. The Data Librarian's Handbook, written by two data librarians with over 30 years' combined experience, unpicks the everyday role of the data librarian and offers practical guidance on how to collect, curate and crunch data for economic, social and scientific purposes. With contemporary case studies from a range of institutions and disciplines, tips for best practice, study aids and links to key resources, this book is a must-read for all new entrants to the field, library and information students and working professionals. ### archive.is - Webpage Capture

<http://archive.is/>

Archive.is is a time capsule for web pages! It takes a 'snapshot' of a webpage that will always be online even if the original page disappears. It saves a text and a graphical copy of the page for better accuracy and provides a short and reliable link to an unalterable record of any web page. This can be useful if you want to take a 'snapshot' a page which could change soon: price list, job offer, real estate listing, drunk blog post, ... Saved pages will have no active elements and no scripts, so they keep you safe as they cannot have any popups or malware! ### Pew Research Center: Americans and Cybersecurity

<http://www.pewinternet.org/2017/01/26/americans-and-cybersecurity>

How concerned is the average American about a cyberattack? How many Americans have personally experienced breaches of cybersecurity? Do Americans trust the federal government to protect them from cyberattacks? Do they trust social network sites, such as Facebook and Twitter, to protect their cybersecurity? In January 2017, the Pew Research Center released a 43-page report investigating American perspectives on issues of cybersecurity. This particular study is part of a multi-part series by Pew examining American attitudes towards online privacy and safety. Based on a survey of 1,040 adults in the United States, this report reveals that almost half of all Americans (49%) "feel that their personal information is less secure that it was five years ago." The survey also investigated the steps that Americans take to protect their personal data from cyberattacks. ### Freesound

<http://freesound.org/browse>

From the Musical Technology Group of the Universitat Pompeu Fabra in Barcelona, Spain comes Freesound, a collection of "audio snippets, samples, recordings, bleeps" that have all been released under Creative Commons licenses to allow their reuse. Intended for sound artists to use as they create songs and other works, this collection may also appeal to anyone looking to integrate sounds into a professional presentation or educational video. New users may want to start by checking out licensing information, available in the Frequently Asked Questions section of the Help page. Visitors can learn about how to properly attribute sounds to ensure that they use this service legally and fairly. Visitors can also browse a large collection of sounds, accompanied by descriptions, via the Sound section. Available sounds range from short instrumentals to the sound of heavy rain to a "windy farmland" recorded in the Netherlands. ### Proof-of-Concept Revolution

<https://proov.io/>

With prooV's all encompassing PoC platform you can discover and demonstrate solutions by easily running multiple PoCs on secure, cloud-based testing environments. Search through the hundreds of innovative solutions on the marketplace and identify collaboration opportunities. Connect - Reach out to any of the global companies to either test a new technology or demonstrate a solution through a PoC. Evaluate - When opening a new opportunity, the enterprise defines the testing environment and uploads all relevant documentation. Startups/ ISVs can also suggest a relevant PoC to an enterprise. The testing environment takes only minutes to set up - use prooV's smart analytics to discover data structures and receive a simulated testing environment with mock-up data. Startups/ ISVs apply to join the PoC opportunity. Approved startups/ ISVs are immediately granted access to the testing environment and are given the components needed to run a successful PoC including: Remote server connection (Linux or Windows), APIs, data connection, containers, Big Data Stream etc. Startups/ ISVs connect to the secure testing environment and run the PoC. The enterprise can compare solutions in relation to the

TARS - Create Engaging Conversational Bots

<https://hellotars.com/>

Based out of Bangalore in India, they at Tars, are trying to enable individuals and businesses to create automated conversational interfaces with no programming knowledge at all. Tars was founded in May 2015 by Vinit Agrawal and Ish Jindal. They are excited about how businesses can interact with their users over a simple and intuitive chat based interface. And this can be for use-cases like ordering/booking process, feedback collection, conducting surveys, user onboarding, training, customer support automation and a lot more. Having worked with businesses in domains ranging from finance to healthcare to food & beverages and a lot more, they envisage a future where a lot of interactions can be automated and delivered in an engaging manner over a messaging platform. ### Quick Topic - Super-Easy Single-Topic Web Forums

<https://www.quicktopic.com/>

For group discussions, QuickTopic free message boards are better than e-mail. Start a message board in ten seconds. Friends can post on your board here or from their own e-mail. It's private, or you can easily link to it. QuickTopic fills the gap in social tools between plain old email, broadcast sites like Facebook and Twitter, and long-term solutions like threaded web bulletin boards or mailing lists. Email is cumbersome for long-ish group discussions. Conversations are scattered in in-boxes. Facebook and Twitter are mostly about broadcasting to your friends. Heavyweight collaboration systems are hard to set up and confusing to use. QuickTopic fills the gap by providing a super-easy single-topic web forum that's also fully email-enabled. You can start a topic in ten seconds, and participants can use just email to participate, or they can use the web board, or both. QuickTopic is mobile-friendly too. ## VIZE - Experiment With Data On the Fly

<http://www.vize.io/>

Vize is an agile data experimentation platform. It helps you prepare, discover, and analyze data on-the-fly without coding, and gives real-time visual feedback on every action. Thanks to its lightning-fast proprietary technology, Vize renders the results of everything you do instantaneously. Change input variables continuously, and watch calculated variables get updated in front of your eyes. Experiment with real-time synchronous highlighting and dynamic aggregations. You can even change data values by directly manipulating data objects on a chart. Create and modify complex analytical dashboards with simple clicks and drag-and-drops. Explore scatter plots with millions of data points. Analyze time-series down to the millisecond. Work with custom GeoJSON maps. Vize empowers you to solve the advanced data problems than can't be solved with business intelligence solutions. Vize Software was founded on the mission to make it more intuitive to experiment and work with data. We strive to improve every possible aspect of software development, from UI to architecture and performance, in order to provide the smoothest user experience. We believe in disrupting the status quo of traditional spreadsheets and statistical packages, and empower more users to perform advanced data tasks without coding. <https://www.sba.gov/nsbw/>

Every year since 1963, the President of the United States has issued a proclamation announcing National Small Business Week, which recognizes the critical contributions of America's entrepreneurs and small business owners. More than half of Americans either own or work for a small business, and they create about two out of every three new jobs in the U.S. each year. As part of National Small Business Week, the U.S. Small Business Administration takes the opportunity to highlight the impact of outstanding entrepreneurs, small business owners, and others from all 50 states and U.S. territories. Every day, they're working to grow small businesses, create 21st century jobs, drive innovation, and increase America's global competitiveness. ## Consciousness Hacking

<http://www.cohack.life/>

Consciousness Hacking started in December 2013 with the intention of sparking a community of makers who are focused on exploring and building new technologies for human flourishing. Their community shares the vision of a technological landscape in service to humanity, not the other way around. We are exploring the relationship between humans and technology because we know it is a defining question for our future. Technology is only becoming more ubiquitous, and we believe that we must take an active approach to shaping its development. In a short time, they have grown organically from a few locations, to over 20 communities and 10,000 members worldwide. They are united by two principles: 1) Their mission is to see maximum human flourishing on a global scale, using the best tools from every approach — technological or not; and 2) They believe that modern technology, driven by science, has an incredible (and largely unrealized) potential to support psychological, emotional, and spiritual well being. ## Awarenesswatch™ Paper Review

If These Canadians Lived in the United States, How Would They Protect Their Privacy? by Colin Bennett, Priscilla Regan, Robin Bayley

<http://firstmonday.org/ojs/index.php/fm/article/view/6817>

Abstract:

This paper contributes to the debate about the adequacy of the United States' fragmented, networked, federal system of privacy protection, an outlier among modern industrialized Western democracies, by taking the perspective of an individual seeking redress for privacy invasions. We analyze five actual privacy cases from the Canadian private sector, investigated by the Privacy Commissioner of Canada, and examine whether the privacy "wrong" experienced by Canadian complainants would be illegal in the U.S., how an individual would proceed with a complaint and what the outcome might be. We attempt therefore to bring the debate away from the typically abstract institutional and legal approach to the level of the regime's practical effectiveness. Despite well-documented flaws in the Canadian privacy protection system, from the point of view of the average citizen, it provides a more consistent, transparent, accessible and effective means for making privacy complaints and having them investigated and resolved, especially when the personal data is captured online.
