V17N6

June 2019

Welcome to the V17N6 June 2019 issue of the Awareness Watch™ Newsletter. This newsletter is available as a complimentary subscription and will be issued monthly. Each newsletter will feature the following:

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report

Awareness Watch™ Spotters

Awareness Watch™ Book/Paper/Article Review

Subject Tracer™ Information Blogs

I am always open to feedback from readers so please feel free to email with all suggestions, reviews and new resources that you feel would be appropriate for inclusion in an upcoming issue of Awareness Watch™. This is an ongoing work of creativity and you will be observing constant changes, constant updates knowing that “change” is the only thing that will remain constant!!

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report

This month’s feature covers the following reports: 1) Information Quality Resources 2019 and 2) Manage Information Overload Resources 2019. Both are very comprehensive listings of information quality and information overload including search engines, directories, subject guides, tracers and index resources and sites available on the Internet and available for the 2019 year. The below URLs are taken partially from my Information Quality Resources 2019 and Manage Information Overload 2019 and are constantly updated with my Subject Tracer™ bots at the following URLs:

<http://www.InformationQualityResources.info/>

<http://www.ManageInformationOverload.info/>

These resources and sources will help you to discover the many pathways available through the Internet to find the latest information quality and information overload resources, sources, tools and sites. As these sites are constantly updated it would be to your benefit to bookmark and return to the above URLs frequently. The true way to search the Internet and social media for information quality and information overload discovery resources, sources and tools is to use the below listed tools and resources and include the deep web. These resources will be your pathfinder to all the important and ever changing 2019 information quality and overload sources for staying current in your profession, occupation, and special interest as well as navigating the Internet!!

IndieEeb - People-Focused Alternative to the "Corporate Web"

<https://indieweb.org/>

When you post something on the web, it should belong to you, not a corporation. Too many companies have gone out of business and lost all of their users' data. By joining the IndieWeb, your content stays yours and in your control. Your articles and status messages can go to all services, not just one, allowing you to engage with everyone. Even replies and likes on other services can come back to your site so they're all in one place. You can post anything you want, in any format you want, with no one monitoring you. In addition, you share simple readable links such as example.com/ideas. These links are permanent and will always work. This will be added to World Wide Web Reference Subject Tracer™. This will be added to Business Intelligence Resources Subject Tracer™. This will be added to Entrepreneurial Resources Subject Tracer™. This will be added to the tools section of Research Resources Subject Tracer™.

LLRX - Manage Information Overload Resources 2019

<https://www.llrx.com/2019/04/manage-information-overload-resources-2019/>

As we are challenged each day to expertly respond to an overwhelming amount of information, much of it not relevant to our requirements, it is a major undertaking to exercise our choices skillfully as well as to balance our knowledge resources to best serve our objectives. Marcus Zillman's guide offers both broader resources on how to manage information overload, as well as sources, tools and techniques to facilitate research productivity. The PDF version of this is freely available by clicking here.

brave - Web Browser

<https://brave.com/>

Why use a browser that treats you like one? Enjoy private, secure and fast browsing with Brave. Much more than a browser, Brave is a new way of thinking about how the web works. Brave is open source and built by a team of privacy focused, performance oriented pioneers of the web. Brave loads major news sites 2 to 8 times faster than Chrome/Safari on mobile and 2 times faster than Chrome on desktop. The average mobile browser user pays as much as $23 a month in data charges to download ads and trackers — that's $276 a year. Brave blocks ads and trackers, so you don't pay for them. Popular sites often host multiple ads and as many as 70 trackers per site. Worse, most leading ad blockers still allow trackers through to profile your location, behavior and other browsing activity. The "private" browsing mode that others offer is not truly private. Brave's many privacy features, including "Private Tabs with Tor*," stop trackers and provide a deep level of protection. Reverse Image Search for Mobile and Desktop

<https://reverseimagesearch.app/>

Welcome to Reverse Image Search where you can use specific images to search and gather similar information on the internet. While the traditional search queries mostly involved keywords, the Reverse Image Search focuses on using the image you have in hand to look up for similar subject, items, or place to identify it for your intended use. The Reverse Image Search is a type of online query where instead of word or keywords you will use an image. This means you will need to upload the image you have and use it to find similar content within the picture. Basically, this service is great for when you do not know the item in the picture or what is its name, you can just upload it and let our search engine look it up for you. This way, you would not have to guess it or describe the image through words and find irrelevant search result in the end. This will be added to World Wide Web Reference Subject Tracer™. Emerging Markets: Introduction

<https://globaledge.msu.edu/econ-class/emerging-markets>

Emerging markets are countries that have some characteristics of a developed market but are not yet a fully developed market. A key difference between emerging markets and emerging economies is that emerging markets are not fully described by, or constrained to, geography or economic strength whereas emerging economies are constrained by political and geographic boundaries. These countries are experiencing rapid growth and industrialization and are attractive due to higher risk and return premium over already developed countries. Data USA - Explore, Map, Compare and Download U.S. Data

<https://datausa.io/>

Their team, comprised of economists, data scientists, designers, researchers and business executives, worked for over a year with input from policymakers, government officials and everyday citizens to develop Data USA, the most comprehensive website and visualization engine of public US Government data. Data USA tells millions of stories about America. Through advanced data analytics and visualization, it tells stories about: places in America—towns, cities and states; occupations, from teachers to welders to web developers; industries--where they are thriving, where they are declining and their interconnectedness to each other; and education and skills, from where is the best place to live if you're a computer science major to the key skills needed to be an accountant. Data USA puts public US Government data in your hands. Instead of searching through multiple data sources that are often incomplete and difficult to access, you can simply point to Data USA to answer your questions. Data USA provides an open, easy-to-use platform that turns data into knowledge. It allows millions of people to conduct their own analyses and create their own stories about America – its people, places, industries, skill sets and educational institutions. Ultimately, accelerating society's ability to learn and better understand itself. This will be added to Statistics Resources and Big Data Subject Tracer™. Awarenesswatch™ Paper Review

Exploring and Analyzing the Dark Web: A New Alchemy by Mohd Faizan, Raees Ahmad Khan

Abstract:

The Tor network is an encrypted network that allows anonymous access to the Internet for its users. The Tor network also hosts hidden services which constitute the infamous dark Web. These hidden services are used to carry out activities that are otherwise illegal and unethical on the surface Web. These activities include distribution of child pornography, access to illegal drugs, and the sale of weapons. While Tor hidden services provide a platform for uncensored ventures and a free expression of thoughts, they are outnumbered by grey activities taking place. In this paper, we have collected the addresses of about 25,742 hidden services and analyze the data for 6,227 available services with the help of custom-made crawler in Python. We analyzed the dataset and manually classify the data into 31 different categories to identify the nature of content available on the dark Web. The results indicate that a large share of hidden services provide illegal content along with a large number of scam sites. Non-English content was also studied and categorized. Russian was the leading language of the dark Web after English and hidden services having forums and blogs were predominantly present over other content.
