V17N8

August 2019

Welcome to the V17N8 August 2019 issue of the Awareness Watch™ Newsletter. This newsletter is available as a complimentary subscription and will be issued monthly. Each newsletter will feature the following:

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report

Awareness Watch™ Spotters

Awareness Watch™ Book/Paper/Article Review

Subject Tracer™ Information Blogs

I am always open to feedback from readers so please feel free to email with all suggestions, reviews and new resources that you feel would be appropriate for inclusion in an upcoming issue of Awareness Watch™. This is an ongoing work of creativity and you will be observing constant changes, constant updates knowing that “change” is the only thing that will remain constant!!

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report

This month’s feature covers the following report: Healthcare Bots and Subject Directories 2019. This is a very competent and comprehensive listing of healthcare information including search engines, directories, subject guides, tracers and index resources and sites available on the Internet and available for the 2019 year. The below URL is taken partially from my 2019 Guide To HealthcareBots and is constantly updated with my Subject Tracer™ bots at the following URL:

<http://www.HealthcareBots.info/>

These resources and sources will help you to discover the many pathways available through the Internet to find the latest information search and discovery resources, sources, tools and sites. As these sites are constantly updated it would be to your benefit to bookmark and return to the above URLs frequently. The true and most modern way to search the Internet and social media for desirable information resources, sources and tools is to use the below listed tools and resources and include the deep web. These resources will be your pathfinder to all the important and ever changing 2019 New Economy resources for staying current in your healthcare profession and special interest as well as navigating and searching the Internet for the latest healthcare information.

Healthcare Bots and Subject Directories 2019

By

Marcus P. Zillman, M.S., A.M.H.A.
Executive Director – Virtual Private Library

This white paper link compilation is designed to give you the latest resources available to find selected and niched information in the healthcare field for healthcare research both professional and personal. It is divided into two categories: a) Search Engines and Selected Bots, and b) Directories, Subject Trees and Subject Tracers. These resources allow you to begin your research using the latest sources that are available on the Internet. Using both bots and subject directories to initialize your healthcare research allows one to create a broad spectrum approach to the information available.

CORE Discovery

<https://core.ac.uk/services/discovery/>

One-click access to free copies of research papers whenever you hit the paywall. CORE Discovery helps users to discover freely accessible copies of research papers. It is backed by our huge dataset of millions of full text open access papers as well as content from widely used external services beyond CORE. Discovery reduces the time it takes to access full texts of research papers and the frustration associated with hitting a paywall on the publisher's site. With CORE Discovery, you can be confident to benefit from the highest coverage of freely available copies of articles anywhere on the planet. So try it, it's free. The tool is available as: a) Browser extension for researchers and anyone interested in reading scientific documents; b) Plugin for repositories, enriching metadata only pages in repositories with links to freely available copies of the paper, and c) API for developers and third party services. Decentralized Artificial Intelligence Alliance

<https://daia.foundation/>

Founded in May 2018, DAIA has become the world's largest network of decentralized AI projects aiming to cooperate and solve some of the most pressing issues of our time with AI: from global migration, like Migranet, or building open source projects enabling the new "data economy", like Ocean Protocol. DAIA also includes such members as DeepBrain Chain, a decentralized neural network building a data exchange, Raven Protocol, a distributed deep-learning training protocol and iCog Lab an AI research lab from Addis Ababa in Ethiopia just to name a few. DAIA will also foster the creation of funds to support AI blockchain-powered projects. The initial DAIA plan involves an affiliated $100M fund AI and blockchain related projects. <http://www.DeepWeb.us/>

I have just updated my white paper link dataset compilation and now titled Deep Web Research and Discovery Resources 2019 and it is now a 66 page 818KB PDF document freely available directly from the above URL. This update verified all links as well as reviewed all resources covered including adding additional links. Currently this has been downloaded over 7,000,000+ times!

Recogito

<https://recogito.pelagios.org>

Recogito is a collaborative platform for adding annotations and semantic data to text files and images. In the Tutorial section, users will find a ten-minute introduction that briefly illustrates how to add and annotate a single document. Annotations can indicate that a selected snippet of text or region on an image refers to either a place, a person, or an event. When tagging locations, automatic suggestions are provided from a number of built-in gazetteers. The semantic annotations are useful for exploring the relationships across a set of documents (e.g., by finding all mentions of a specific person). Users can also publicly publish their annotated documents by marking them "visible to all." The free instance of Recogito on Pelagios.org imposes a 200MB total size limit for data stored within a workspace. However, images may be stored on an IIF server outside of Recogito's limit. Recogito is free software, distributed under the Apache license, with source code available on GitHub. The project README also includes instructions for running a Recogito instance on one's own server. This will be added to Business Intelligence Resources Subject Tracer™. Cherrytree

<https://www.giuspen.com/cherrytree>

Cherrytree is a structured note taking application with support for rich text formatting and syntax highlighting for a number of common programming languages. Its files contain a related set of hierarchically arranged sub-documents, which Cherrytree calls nodes, that are organized in an outline structure. In addition to formatted text, nodes may also contain tables, images, embedded files, and code blocks. For many scripting languages, users may right click a code block to execute the code that it contains. Cherrytree files are exportable as PDFs, HTML websites, or folders of plain text files. The application website features a manual generated from a single Cherrytree file and the Downloads section of the site contains a Windows installer and .deb and .rpm package files for common Linux distributions. Section 3.4 of the Cherrytree manual outlines how technically inclined macOS users may install Cherrytree via Homebrew. Cherrytree is free software, distributed under the GNU General Public License, with source code available on GitHub. This will be added to Business Intelligence Resources Subject Tracer™. Awarenesswatch™ Paper Review

The Status Quo Bias and The Uptake of Open Access by Melissa H. Cantrell, Lauren B. Collister

<https://firstmonday.org/ojs/index.php/fm/article/view/10089>

Abstract

In this paper we argue that the framing of open access through language adopted by a variety of stakeholders serves to inhibit the uptake of open access publishing through the mechanisms of complexity and cognitive load. Using both quantitative and qualitative methods, we analyze both the language and tiers of decisions that confront authors seeking information online about open access. We conclude that this information is for the most part prohibitively complex and introduces contradictory interpretations and executions of open access that act to motivate a phenomenon known as the status quo bias. The only reliable method of counteracting this status quo bias in order to bolster the uptake of open access is to re-frame the language that is commonly employed in association with open access and to minimize the tiers of decisions expected of authors, which create a barrier rather than a gateway to open access engagement.

Subject Tracer™ Information Blogs
