V9N10   October 2011

Welcome to the V9N10 October 2011 issue of the Awareness Watch™ Newsletter.
This newsletter is available as a complimentary subscription and will be issued monthly.
Each newsletter will feature the following:

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report
Awareness Watch™ Spotters
Awareness Watch™ Book/Paper/Article Review
Subject Tracer™ Information Blogs

I am always open to feedback from readers so please feel free to email with all suggestions, reviews and new resources that you feel would be appropriate for inclusion in an upcoming issue of Awareness Watch™. This is an ongoing work of creativity and you will be observing constant changes, constant updates knowing that "change" is the only thing that will remain constant!!

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report

This month's featured report covers Business Intelligence Resources. These sites, resources and tools bring together all the latest information on business intelligence from the Internet. These resources will make an excellent bookmark for online current business intelligence and to develop a critical path and network that will guide you through all the latest business intelligence happenings! Resources for this report were taken from the below Subject Tracer™:

Decide - Online Shopping Product Analysis, Alerts, Predictions and More
http://www.Decide.com/
Decide predicts future product releases to help you purchase with no regrets.They make model predictions by matching hundreds of thousands of devices to their model lineages and applying advanced machine learning and text mining algorithms. Price predictions help you pull the trigger with confidence and save money. Their prediction algorithms utilize billions of observed price movements and over 40 distinct factors. Use their mobile site to get the right model and the right price when shopping at your local electronics store. Be an informed shopper with Decide mobile. Set up alerts for your future product purchase to be in the know about price changes, rumors and product releases. They arm you with Decide's massive database of price and product information. Decide is all about leveraging data and technology, not marketing ploys, to help shoppers. They use their patent-pending machine learning and text mining algorithms on billions of price points across millions of products, blog posts, and articles on the web to enable shoppers to make the best buying decision possible. This will be added to ShoppingBots and Online Shopping 2011.

FolderBoy - Record Ideas, Collaborate On Tasks, and Unscramble Your Workflow
http://www.folderboy.com/FolderBoy is a collaborative organizer that allows you to manage your team's work-flow better. We offer a very fluid way to: (a) capture and share your ideas; (b) organize your notes, tasks, and resources; (c) collaborate on projects; and (d) streamline the process of turning ideas into goals...and goals into results. They have thrown out existing ideas about organization, and are building a service around six core beliefs. They believe that you should be able to: (1) Write first, organize later; (2) Grow your lists to infinite size and infinite depth; (3) Zoom in on any part of your tree; (4) Put anything anywhere; (5) Collaborate with your team, no matter where they are; and (6) Customize how you view your information. Here are some use-cases our users have found FolderBoy incredibly useful: (a) Organizing a project; (b) Collaborating remotely with a team; (c) Brainstorming and capturing ideas; (d) To-do lists; (e) Saving links and resources; and (f) Helping out with a five-minute research project. RecruiterBox http://recruiterbox.com/

Recruiterbox is a result of talking to numerous people who hire. It was built during a time when recruiting was slow, forcing them to find what hiring really needs. They saw that most people did not use recruiting software because it was too overwhelming or expensive. Those who did buy software, complained that their employees did not use the software. They realized that there was a need for a simpler, affordable recruiting software. Software that didn't try to do too many things - but still gets the job done. Recruiterbox is built with all this in mind. This has been added to Employment Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog.

Goplan - The Best Way To Collaborate With Your Peers
http://goplanapp.com/Goplan is an online project management and collaboration solution for individuals and teams, built by WBS. Goplan was developed to scratch our own itch - they needed a better tool to manage their projects, communicate with clients, and organize their personal lives. Goplan became a consumer-facing product once they realized other companies and individuals had the same problems they were having, and quickly evolved into what it is today. Features include: a) Task management; b) Issue tracking; c) Calendar; d) File Versioning; e) Milestones; f) Discussions; g) Time tracking; and h) Activity stream. Marketplacr - Where You Create Your Own Specialized Marketplace http://www.marketplacr.com/

Into designer jeans? Start a marketplace and invite your friends. Want a place to buy/sell some used textbooks? Set up a marketplace and invite your classmates. Collect vintage clothes? Fashion a marketplace and let members of your forum know. Want to sell some of your artwork? Create a marketplace and welcome your fellow artists. It takes less than five minutes to sign up and customize your marketplace. And then you are in business. You get a percentage of each transaction that occurs on your marketplace. All of the infrastructure is covered by them - setups, payments, seller notifications. Which gives you more time to spend on what really matters. The happiness of the sellers. The satisfaction of the buyers. The thriving community. And earning money. This will be added to eCommerce Resources Subject Tracer™. This will be added to Entrepreneurial Resources Subject Tracer™.

Nano.gov
http://www.nano.gov/
Since 2000, the National Nanotechnology Initiative (NNI) has brought together the numerous government agencies needed to advance research and development in the field of nanotechnology that " is taking place in academic, government, and industry laboratories across the United States." Visitors new to nanotechnology will find the tabs on the far right of the website to help explain the basics, including an overview of nanotechnology, its benefits, and how the NNI is supporting the field. It is worth noting that a nanometer is one billionth of a meter, and that they are being used in medicine, solar panel manufacture, drinking water purification, and environmental cleanup. To put the size of a nanometer in some perspective, the thickness of a sheet of paper is 100,000 nanometers. Visitors interested in learning more should check out the tabs "Nanotechnology 101" and "Nanotechnology and You." Teachers visiting the site should take a look at the "Education" link that caters to K-12 students, containing everything from workbooks to online games. This area has a section dedicated to "higher education programs" that lists nanotechnology bachelor, masters, and Ph.D. degree programs available across the country. Planet Hunters http://www.planethunters.org/
Planet Hunters, the latest project from the Zooniverse, is a citizen science project. Participants help us sieve through data taken by the NASA Kepler space mission. These data consist of brightness measurements, or "light curves," taken every thirty minutes for more than 150,000 stars. Users search for possible transit events - a brief dip in brightness that occurs when a planet passes in front of the star - with the goal of discovering a planet (hence the name "Planet Hunters"). The most difficult detections for Planet Hunters and for computer-based searches will be those from planets that orbit far from their star and therefore cross the star infrequently. It may also be difficult for computer algorithms to detect planets in data that has artificial offsets (which can occur with telescope pointing errors or space craft rolls). Planet Hunter participants may be better than computers at finding signals in this type of data. Because of the outstanding pattern recognition of the human brain, we hope that participants will also establish new "families" or classifications for the light curves. We will be standing by to obtain more data at telescopes to better understand the underlying physical reason for the different classifications. Capterra - Find and Compare Software for Your Business http://www.capterra.com/Capterra helps people find and compare software for their business – any kind of business, small or large, for-profit or nonprofit. We also help software companies reach their target audience more efficiently. The business software industry has been around since the 1950s and, decade after decade, it has experienced the same two problems: 1) Low satisfaction rates. Companies often either buy the wrong software or mismanage what could have been the right software; and 2) Software companies spend more money on marketing and selling their software than they do developing it. Capterra was started in 1999 to address these problems. Our goal is to help organizations make smarter software purchases and to help software companies reach their customers more cost effectively. NewsDrink - Choose 2000 Newspapers, 2000 Magazines, 35,000 Blogs and More http://www.newsdrink.com/

At NewsDrink, you can add all the news you like from tens of thousands of the world's leading newspapers, blogs, tv networks, magazines, and other news sources on hundreds of topics and interests. You can read your news headlines online at NewsDrink.com or via an all-in-one e-mail. NewsDrink is a completely free and legal service. From NewsDrink, you click through to read the full news stories at the content provider's website the same way as you click on a link to a website from a search engine like Google. Some news providers charge for some of their content (e.g. the Wall Street Journal) so you'll have to subscribe to their service to be able to read their full content. If you are a publisher or blogger and your publication is not included in NewsDrink, you can suggest a news source or topic we're missing via our feedback page. Their mission is to make it easy and fun for you to find your favorite news providers and to read all the news headlines you're interested in from your favorite sources in a single place-whether here online at NewsDrink.com, in daily e-mails, or via mobile/tablet apps. Online Groups - eMail Collaboration for Organizations
http://onlinegroups.net/
Online groups take the pain out of group email collaboration by giving a group an email address and an inbox. People can choose to participate via email, the web or both. And there's a permanent shared record of the work of the group. Email dominates online communication. Everyone has an address and inbox that they use all the time. The web-based collaboration tools have not changed this. If one person switches back to email, the whole team does. So groups usually end up collaborating with email and reply-to-all. Reply-to-all quickly gets painful. Recipients get dropped off. The email gets messy, with no useful archive. Time gets wasted and collaboration grinds to a halt. Online groups work for any organisation where people collaborate in groups, inside or outside the organisation. Use online groups for team collaboration and knowledge-sharing communities. It works like this: Email the group and the group emails the members. Search, read and post messages and files on the web. Your organisation's public and private groups are all on a customisable site with no ads. All online groups are now free. We will introduce pricing for private groups later in 2011. OnlineGroups.Net runs on the open source web-based mailing list manager GroupServer. This has been added to the tools section of Research Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog.

Apache™ Hadoop™ Project
http://hadoop.apache.org/
The Apache™ Hadoop™ project develops open-source software for reliable, scalable, distributed computing. The Apache Hadoop software library is a framework that allows for the distributed processing of large data sets across clusters of computers using a simple programming model. It is designed to scale up from single servers to thousands of machines, each offering local computation and storage. Rather than rely on hardware to deliver high-avaiability, the library itself is designed to detect and handle failures at the application layer, so delivering a highly-availabile service on top of a cluster of computers, each of which may be prone to failures. TextMob - Create SMS Groups Around an Event or Trip

http://www.textmob.co/

Textmob started from a small trip to Tahoe. 100 inches of snow had fallen at Squaw and Presidents Day Weekend was fast approaching. He knew many friends were planning on going to the mountain, but didn't know where they would be or their plans. A few friends had setup Groupme groups that have worked well, but would need everyone's phone number to enter them into a group. He just wanted a simple RSVP webpage that also entered the submitter into an SMS group. The members could organize through SMS before the trip, coordinate during the trip, and share stories after. In a few hours he made a single page to do this. After the page was created many friends approached him saying they wanted a similar page for a reunion/wedding/trip approaching. He figured that he would just make a scalable app to do it. Textmob was born. This has been added to the tools section of Research Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog.

International Human Development Indicators
http://hdr.undp.org/en/data/explorer/
The human development data utilized in the preparation of the Human Development Index (HDI) and other composite indices featured in the Human Development Report are provided by a variety of public international sources and represent the best and most current statistics available for those indicators at the time of the preparation of this annual report. Calculations of HDI values and country rankings are the sole responsibility of the Human Development Report Office. The 2010 Human Development Report, an editorially independent publication commissioned by the United Nations Development Programme, was published in print and online on November 4 2010. The aim of the Human Development Report is to stimulate global, regional and national policy discussions on issues that are relevant to human development. To be of relevance, the data in the Report requires the highest standards of data quality, consistency, transparency and accountability. Several steps are taken each year to ensure that the Report maintains high quality and reliability. These steps include partnering with many national and international statistical agencies. In this section, you will find an extensive array of information to help understand how the data presented in the Report indicator tables are compiled and how they should be used and interpreted. You will find all of the sources for the data used and the contact information for the major statistical agencies. These are often specialized agencies of the United Nations system working on issues such as health—World Health Organization (WHO), education—United Nations Education Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) Institute for Statistics, and labour market statistics—International Labour Organization (ILO) and many more, including for the first time mean years of schooling data from Barro and Lee. Several mechanisms have also been adopted by the Human Development Report Office (HDRO) to ensure that the data we publish is of high quality and relevance. In addition to the small in-house team of qualified statisticians, a Senior Statistical Advisor reviews all of HDRO's statistical work. This process is supplemented by consultations with a standing Statistical Advisory Panel (SAP). A select group of distinguished national, international professionals and select United Nations Statistical Commission members participate in the Advisory Panel while the peer review process is done through leading regional and national statistical offices as well as international organizations. Nonetheless several data gaps and quality issues remain. These include issues of inconsistency and incoherence between international data series and the timing of data revisions by different agencies. International cooperation is improving these deficiencies and HDRO is an active participant in this process, bringing these issues to light in the global report and seeking resolution from the relevant agencies. Select writings on issues of statistical methodology that serve as the theoretical background for the measurement of human development are also presented. These are a collection of background papers from different editions of the Report that highlight important measurement issues, major international initiatives and also innovative ways of measuring human development. ShoppingBots and Online Shopping Resources 2011

80

http://www.ShoppingBots.info/

The latest research shows that when prospects search for your company on the Internet, the top 10 listings are likely to include the following:

a) 3 listings from consumer posts to blogs, message boards, and opinion sites,

b) 2 listings from experts,

c) 2 listings from your own corporate site,

d) 1 listing from an online publication, and

e) 2 listings from other sources.

This confirms the need for immediate business intelligence to constantly monitor and evaluate the prospects ongoing searching results for your company, brand, and product. Marcus P. Zillman, M.S., A.M.H.A., Executive Director of the Virtual Private Library™, Internet expert, author, speaker, consultant and creator/founder of BotSpot.com will be speaking on The Future of the Internet: eCommerce Security, Cloud Computing, HTML5 and IPV6 with emphasis on the growing areas of bots, intelligent agents, blogs (weblogs), news aggregators, business intelligence, artificial intelligence, RSS, Twitter, FaceBook MashUps, Grids/Clouds, Social Networks and the Web 3.0 . The Internet's future is both theoretical and practical and will relate to all that gather in cyberspace to continue education and to keep current! We truly live in exciting times .... Will Mash-Ups and the Web 3.0 replace the current Internet as we know it? These and other questions will be discussed during this presentation by one of the Internet's pioneers and bot and artificial intelligence experts, Marcus P. Zillman. His latest links and resources are available by clicking here.

Click.to - One Click To Your Favorite App

http://www.clicktoapp.com/

Once upon a time, you were forced to awkwardly mark and copy text from one location and paste the text to the (hopefully correct) other location. Pictures to be uploaded had to be located and selected with the internet-browser's file-dialog. An unwieldy, time-consuming and frequently irritating waste of time. And if the text was in another language, it had to be marked up, copied, and passed through translation-software, before being inserted in its final destination. Now, this can all happen much faster and easier. The advantages of click.to are obvious. Text, images, videos, and other documents which are selected can be sent to other applications with a single click. And the programs can even handle the selection automatically. You might say, click.to transforms everything in your computer into a hyperlink. This has been added to the tools section of Research Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog.

UnderTheSite - Investigate the Technologies Used By Your Favorite Websites

http://underthesite.com/

Use UnderTheSite to find the answer! They detect and catalog the technologies used by your favorite websites. Use UnderTheSite to learn more about how the web works, to see which technologies are popular, or to spread word about tools that you care about. Are we missing a technology that you use, develop, or care about? You can easily add it! This has been added to the tools section of Research Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog. This has been added to Business Intelligence Resources SWubject Tracer™ Information Blog.

Awarenesswatch™ Paper Review

Culturomics 2.0: Forecasting Large-scale Human Behavior Using Global News Media Tone in Time and Space by Kalev Leetaru
http://firstmonday.org/htbin/cgiwrap/bin/ojs/index.php/fm/article/view/3492

Abstract:
News is increasingly being produced and consumed online, supplanting print and broadcast to represent nearly half of the news monitored across the world today by Western intelligence agencies. Recent literature has suggested that computational analysis of large text archives can yield novel insights to the functioning of society, including predicting future economic events. Applying tone and geographic analysis to a 30–year worldwide news archive, global news tone is found to have forecasted the revolutions in Tunisia, Egypt, and Libya, including the removal of Egyptian President Mubarak, predicted the stability of Saudi Arabia (at least through May 2011), estimated Osama Bin Laden's likely hiding place as a 200–kilometer radius in Northern Pakistan that includes Abbotabad, and offered a new look at the world's cultural affiliations. Along the way, common assertions about the news, such as "news is becoming more negative" and "American news portrays a U.S.–centric view of the world" are found to have merit.
