V9N3   March 2011

Welcome to the V9N3 March 2011 issue of the Awareness Watch™ Newsletter. This newsletter is available as a complimentary subscription and will be issued monthly. Each newsletter will feature the following:

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report
Awareness Watch™ Spotters Awareness Watch™ Book/Paper/Article Review Subject Tracer™ Information Blogs

I am always open to feedback from readers so please feel free to email with all suggestions, reviews and new resources that you feel would be appropriate for inclusion in an upcoming issue of Awareness Watch™. This is an ongoing work of creativity and you will be observing constant changes, constant updates knowing that "change" is the only thing that will remain constant!!

Awareness Watch™ Featured Report

This month's featured report covers the eReference Library Link Toolkit.
The eReference Library is a comprehensive link toolkit of reference resources currently available on the Internet. The below list of sources is taken from my Subject Tracer™ Information Blog titled eReference Resources and is constantly updated with Subject Tracer™ bots at the following URL:

http://www.eReferenceResources.com/

These resources and sources will help you to discover the many pathways available to you through the Internet to find the latest reference resources and sites.

Delineal - Next Generation Decision Engines and eDiscovery Applications http://www.delineal.com/Delineal was founded upon the realization that the Internet changes too rapidly for most organizations to follow. Delineal's primary goal is to produce technology and data that will assist the next generation of decision engines and eDiscovery applications, reducing the apparent scope of many frequently encountered Internet business problems. Delineal's inaugural technology release was their web page matching system. A series of data normalization and correlation advances has enabled us to automatically find groups of websites without using server data (such as IP addresses) and without using content data (such as data indexed by Google). Delineal's matching technology looks beyond the constant fluctuations that occur on modern websites, focusing on the structural elements that distinguish one design from another. Delineal's second technology release is their website change detection system. They were able to re-utilize data produced by their core fingerprinting technology to detect significant changes to the structural elements of a website. As with their website matching system, it was necessary to ensure the system allows for the myriad insignificant changes that can occur on a website. LLRX February 2011 Issue - Deep Web Research 2011 Featured Article http://www.llrx.com/features/deepweb2011.htm

The February 2011 Issue of LLRX has a feature article written by Marcus P. Zillman titled Deep Web Research 2011. "Internet research guru Marcus P. Zillman's comprehensive, extensive guide focuses on how expert search engines have written algorithms to mine the deeper portions of the web by targeting file formats such as .pdf, .doc, .xls, ppt, .ps. and others. These files are predominately used by businesses to communicate information both within their organization and to those outside enterprise systems. Searching for this information using deeper search techniques and the latest algorithms empowers researchers to obtain a vast amount of corporate information previously unavailable or inaccessible. Research has also shown that even deeper information can be obtained from these files by searching and accessing the "properties" information on these files." [Published LLRX February 6, 2011]. Knight Center for Digital Media Entrepreneurship http://www.startupmedia.org/program/
The Knight Center for Digital Media Entrepreneurship at Arizona State University transforms students into experienced entrepreneurs. Part of the greater Entrepreneurship at ASU initiative that was awarded $5 million from the Kauffman Foundation to create a Kauffman Campus in 2006, the Knight lab immerses interdisciplinary students in a rigorous lab instruction environment and equips them with the latest digital media tools. After learning the core concepts of entrepreneurship by industry veterans, students create innovative digital media products. Throughout the process, they are mentored by Knight Center Director Dan Gillmor and Entrepreneur-in-Residence CJ Cornell, winners of the 2010 ASU President's Award for Innovation. The instructors take a hands-on, experiential approach to teaching entrepreneurship, focusing not on helping students start small businesses, but on imparting the principles of Silicon Valley-style entrepreneurship: the development of high-growth, rapid concept-to-market, scalable digital media ventures. This will be added to Entrepreneurial Resources Subject Tracer™.

Social QR Code - Use with Traditional and Social Marketing http://www.socialqrcode.com/QR stands for "Quick Response" and has been around since 1994 in Japan. Never before has a QR Code been used to support and promote your Social Media marketing. Social QR Code is the first QR Code Generator specifically designed to get your fan page more Facebook "Likes", Twitter followers and share your content through Social Media! Get started today, it only takes minutes and is absolutely FREE! Social QR Code is a service that allows users to easily create QR Codes that when scanned by a smart phone direct people to a Socially designed Landing Page. Use Social QR Code to jump start your social media campaigns and social media presence. Use the Facebook Social QR Code product to essentially place a "Like" button in your store front, on your print advertisements and at the point of sale for your products. Previously "Like" buttons were relegated for your computer screens. Social QR Code allows business's and brands to bring their "Like" buttons everywhere in the real world! With a background in Social Media Marketing, Social QR Code was created to facilitate QR Code in becoming social. Traditional QR Codes are designed for URL's and other non-interactive content. Use Social QR Code to create interactive, and meaningful QR Code campaigns. Create a coupon for your business and when it is scanned and redeemed by your customers, they can share it on Facebook and Twitter with all their friends and followers! Coupons will spread like wildfire and your business will be busier than ever! This has been added to the eCommerce Resources Subject Tracer™. Supertintin - Skype Video and MSN Webcam Call Recorder http://www.supertintin.com/Finally, an easy way to record online conversations. Supertintin is a recording tool for online interviews, conferences, lessons, podcasts, or family VoIP calls. Record all audio and video streams including Skype voice mail and screen sharing video. Very easy to record and playback. Supertintin records by capturing original media data while making sure there is no data loss. Because it is not a screen-capture recorder, video quality is not affected at all if you open, close, resize messenger windows while recording. Record video in Picture-in-Picture, Side-by-Side, Remote-Only, or Local-Only mode! And you can also record local and remote video as two separate files. Supertintin lets you easily save your conversations to your computer's hard drive or a portable USB drive, allowing you to re-watch your personal and business conversations as easily as watching your favourite DVD. Crimson Hexagon - Social Media Monitoring and Analysis http://www.crimsonhexagon.com/To realize business value and measurable benefits from social media monitoring and analysis, you need to do more than count how many times a keyword is mentioned. Crimson Hexagon's ForSight™ Platform goes far beyond simple keyword counting, quantifying opinions and meaning from the vast sea of online conversations by applying computing power capable of sophisticated analysis. With roots in an algorithm created by Gary King, a professor at Harvard University, our patent-pending technology helps bring order to chaos for companies of all sizes. In fact, it's hard at work for many global brands and agencies right now. Their technology analyzes the entire social internet (blog posts, forum messages, Tweets, etc.) by identifying statistical patterns in the words used to express opinions on different topics. Based on this insight, it goes beyond simply measuring positive versus negative. Instead, it delivers a clear understanding of the nature of the online conversation – the key themes, their relative size, and how they change over time – with up to 97% accuracy. Crimson Hexagon delivers true Social Intelligence with the following features: a) Market research insight into the vast stream of online opinion—turning qualitative feedback into quantitative terms; b) Real-time feedback on online dialogue so your organization can develop engagement strategies associated with marketing, social media, and product design; and c) The ability to track and measure opinion according to business criteria, and to calculate the ROI of online marketing and PR investments. GrantCraft - Practical Wisdom for GrantMakers http://www.grantcraft.org/GrantCraft was originally started in October 2001 as a small collection of case studies and examples, and it was designed to be used as orientation material for new program officers at the Ford Foundation. Over the past decade, the site has grown significantly, and it offers videos, workshops, guides, and other tools to help grantmakers across the spectrum. On the homepage, visitors can start by looking over the "Guides" area to learn more about the challenges facing grantmakers today. Moving along, the "What We're Reading" area features some of their favorite resources from "the field and beyond". The bottom of the homepage features "Videos", such as information from the State Fiscal Analyses Initiative and nuts-and-bolts programs like "Building a Network". Finally, visitors can also sign up for free updates and they also shouldn't miss the "New to Grantmaking?" area. This has been added to Grant Resources Subject Tracer™ Information Blog. NM Incite - Advancing Social Media Intelligence http://www.nmincite.com/NM Incite, a Nielsen McKinsey company, helps businesses harness the full potential of social media intelligence to drive superior business performance across their organizations. Consumers are increasingly going about their lives in a digital environment. They use blogs, social networks and other social media to evaluate products, make purchasing decisions, share opinions and connect with friends. Traffic to social networks is skyrocketing and more and more consumers rely on word of mouth and peer recommendations when evaluating a product or making a purchase decision. But companies have yet to capitalize on the insights available as a result of consumer-generated activity. Instead, they're actively seeking guidance on how to fully realize the promise of social media as an integral source of consumer knowledge. NM Incite equips companies with the capabilities to better understand, value and take advantage of these rich consumer insights. Using proven tools and new processes to drive organizational transformation in line with strategic objectives, we make it possible for senior executives to extract new value from these insights to deliver value to their product development, marketing, and customer service operations. In essence, with our help they can better embrace social media insights across the very fabric of their organizations. The result? Unprecedented, measurable business impact, new opportunities, efficiencies and competitive advantage. This collaboration between The Nielsen Company, the world's largest provider of consumer insight and leader in social media analysis, and McKinsey aggregators, business intelligence, artificial intelligence, RSS, Twitter, FaceBook MashUps, Grids/Clouds, Social Networks and the Web 3.0 . The Internet's future is both theoretical and practical and will relate to all that gather in cyberspace to continue education and to keep current! We truly live in exciting times .... Will Mash-Ups and the Web 3.0 replace the current Internet as we know it? These and other questions will be discussed during this presentation by one of the Internet's pioneers and bot and artificial intelligence experts, Marcus P. Zillman. TinderBox - Create, Manage and Track Proposal and Other Business Communications

http://gettinderbox.com/

Creating proposals can be a time consuming and tedious process. You can spend hours writing, editing, and formatting proposals and then go through another round of editing and checking for accuracy prior to sending it to the prospect. Once a proposal is sent to a potential client, it disappears into a black hole and it can be days, weeks, or even longer, before you have any idea if it was received, read, or approved. Tinderbox makes the proposal process painless. Tinderbox allows you to manage all aspects of proposal creation including: writing, formatting, management, approvals, and tracking all from within one simple interface. With TinderBox you no longer have to stare at a blinking cursor wondering if you are using the latest content, or struggle with formatting documents in an attempt to maintain accuracy and consistency. TinderBox ensures that you are always working with the most accurate, consistent, and up-to-date proposal content. Best of all, TinderBox actually provides visibility into how your prospects are interacting with your proposals. TinderBox provides tracking data for every proposal you send out. You will know when your prospect viewed the proposal, what sections they viewed, and how long they spent reviewing it. TinderBox improves the quality of your proposals and provides visibility into how your proposals perform. Binpress - The Source-Code Marketplace http://www.binpress.com/Binpress is a marketplace for source-code where software developers can buy and sell source-code from each other. Our goal is to create a market complimentary to free open-source, in which professional developers have an incentive to produce and distribute professional, tested, production quality code. Software ventures and development projects can purchase feature-sized code packages, reducing time and costs and allowing them to focus on the unique problem they are trying to solve. Finding out an open-source solution that fits your needs can be difficult. The visibility of various open-source projects varies greatly, as well as the quality of documentation and installation procedures. As a categorized, searchable listing of source-code packages, Binpress attempts to reduce the time and pain associated with finding out open-source solutions while increasing visibility for developers who are listed. By adding the commercial element to open-source, we are able to invest in marketing, SEO and PPC campaigns, as well as cross promotions with other sites in order to increase visibility for our hosted projects. Watch™ Paper Review

Personal Web Searching in the Age of Semantic Capitalism: Diagnosing the Mechanisms of Personalisation by Martin Feuz, Matthew Fuller, and Felix Stalder http://www.uic.edu/htbin/cgiwrap/bin/ojs/index.php/fm/article/view/3344

Abstract:
Web search engines have become indispensable tools for finding information online effectively. As the range of information, context and users of Internet searches has grown, the relationship between the search query, search interest and user has become more tenuous. Not all users are seeking the same information, even if they use the same query term. Thus, the quality of search results has, at least potentially, been decreasing. Search engines have begun to respond to this problem by trying to personalise search in order to deliver more relevant results to the users. A query is now evaluated in the context of a user's search history and other data compiled into a personal profile and associated with statistical groups. This, at least, is the promise stated by the search engines themselves. This paper tries to assess the current reality of the personalisation of search results. We analyse the mechanisms of personalisation in the case of Google web search by empirically testing three commonly held assumptions about what personalisation does. To do this, we developed new digital methods which are explained here. The findings suggest that Google personal search does not fully provide the much-touted benefits for its search users. More likely, it seems to serve the interest of advertisers in providing more relevant audiences to them.
